SPEAKER

Changhoon Yoo, MD, PhD

Associate Professor, Department of Oncology,
Asan Medical Center, Seoul, Korea

Dr. Yoo completed his medical degree at the University of Ulsan College of Medicine and earned his PhD from the same institution. Following a visiting scholarship at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA, he has continued to lead clinical and translational research in gastrointestinal malignancies, with a particular focus on hepatobiliary and pancreatic cancers.

He has served as the principal investigator of numerous investigator-initiated and international clinical trials and has made significant contributions to the development of novel systemic therapies for biliary tract cancer, hepatocellular carcinoma, pancreatic cancer, and neuroendocrine tumors. He has published more than 120 peer-reviewed articles in leading journals, including The Lancet Oncology, JAMA Oncology, Nature Medicine, and the Journal of Hepatology. In addition to his research, he serves on multiple international committees, is an Associate Editor of BMC Cancer, and is actively involved in ESMO and the International Liver Cancer Association, advancing global collaboration in gastrointestinal oncology.
